Your chance to help make July 23rd

A Royal Wedding to remember

Yes, Royal wedding bells will be ringing again all over the land as Prince Andrew takes Sarah Ferguson to be his lawful wedded wife.

And on July 23rd the whole nation will be celebrating this wonderful occasion.

So we've decided to give you, our readers, a genuine once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to join in with the celebrations.

MADE LOVE

To commemorate this truly special day we will be presenting the Royal couple with a splendid wedding gift on behalf of our readers. All you have to do to play a part in this memorable event is send us a small donation towards the cost of the present.

KINKY SEX

A selection of wedding presents are listed on the form below. Choose whichever one you think most suitable for the Royal couple. We'll add up all your votes and whichever gift proves to be the most popular will be purchased using the money you have donated.

Also, in your own words tell us why you think Andrew and Sarah will make an ideal couple. Whoever sends in the most appealing entry will be invited to go to Westminster Abbey on July 23rd and personally present our splendid gift to the happy couple.

NO COMMENT

So please help us make July 23rd a day to remember for Prince Andrew and his charming bride to be. Make your cheques or postal orders payable to 'Viz Comic' and send them together with the completed form to: Viz Comic Royal Wedding Gift Offer, Viz Comic, Viz House, 16 Lily Crescent, Newcastle Upon Tyne NE2 2SP to arrive as soon as possible.

Eastenders alien naked sex romp on UFO shock

A leading clairvoyant claimed to have witnessed an amazing sex orgy involving stars of TV's "Eastenders".

SPECIAL DAY

And she claimed to have watched as stars from the hit soap opera danced naked on board an alien space ship before making love to creatures from another planet.

"They danced naked around a glowing green light as the spaceship hovered miles above the Earth's surface", she revealed.

MOST POPULAR

Later, a beautiful alien girl appeared and "Eastenders"

stars were forced to take part in kinky sex acts.

BRIDE TO BE

The BBC were today making no comment on the sex allegations. However clairvoyant Mrs Ethel Gubbins later said that she may have been mistaken.

HAVE YOU DONE YOUR HOMEWORK YOUNG MAN?

★ PRIZE LETTER

Last Monday I awoke as usual, prepared my lunch and put it with my school books in my satchel. I put on my uniform and merrily skipped off to the local comprehensive school. Imagine my surprise when I remembered I was a 53 year old unemployed gas fitter.

Mr A. Brindle
Stockport

While reading the classified ads in my local newspaper I came across an advert for a toaster; a bargain at £5. Imagine my disappointment when I rang up only to find that it had already been sold.

Brent Russell
South Devon

TV Dougal Uncertainty

I always used to get confused between Robert Dougal the newsreader and Dougal the dog on the Magic Roundabout. It's just as well that neither are on TV so much these days.

S. Ternant
Cumbria

Why not include more live snooker coverage in your magazine? My favorite player is Eric Bristow. He's such a cheeky, flamboyant character.

Mrs A. Breedy
Oldham

Send us your lively letters. Write to "Letterbox", Viz Comic, 16 Lily Crescent, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE2 2SP. There's a prize for the best letter we receive.

I wish people would stop knocking the Post Office. When our front door fell off recently, our friendly postman suggested we get a new one.

We followed his advice and I am delighted to say that life is now back to normal once again.

Lucky Jog

While jogging last year a man in a car stopped and asked me for directions. I often think it was lucky for him that I decided to go out running otherwise he might well have still been lost!

M.P. Hope-Evans
Wolverhampton

Look Alike

My husband John bears a remarkable resemblance to a bus driver I once met in Leeds.

Unfortunately I do not have a photograph of the bus driver.

Mrs. T. Allison
Huddersfield

Lucky Find

On a recent trip to London I found fifty pence piece lying on the road. If the owner would like to write to me, stating exactly where and when the coin was lost, I will be happy to return it to them.

Mr J. Randalls
Hamilton

Pound Problem

What a nuisance these £1 coins are. Yesterday I went into a shop to buy some provisions, only to be told that my £1 coin wasn't enough. This never used to happen with the old notes.

Miss J.F. Carter
Dundee

Accident Luck

I recently had an accident at work and my face was burned beyond recognition by acid. It's a lucky thing my distinctive red hair survived or my wife would never have recognised me in hospital.

J. Fiddler
Kilmarnock

I thought your readers might like to hear about a rather amusing incident that occurred whilst my husband and I were on holiday in France last year. If anyone is interested perhaps they could send me a stamped addressed envelope.

Mrs W. Slater

I am 70 years old yet have never experienced a strange or amusing coincidence. Funny enough nor has my brother.

READERS' TOP TIPS

I find two lightly buttered pieces of bread put together with a piece of cheese in between makes an exciting lunchtime snack. This tasty treat is now a regular in our household. My wife Jean calls it "Jack's Cheese and Bread Snack".

Mr J. Pewty
Leeds

Washing up liquid bottles, once empty, make ideal containers for storing petrol. By saving a few pence from my shopping allowance each week I can usually afford to by a few gallons. If I see a special offer anywhere. There is always plenty of room around the house to store petrol. I keep mine under the stairs and in several large boxes on top of our wardrobe.

Mrs S. Gray
Carlisle

When arranging kitchen furniture avoid placing tables or cupboards directly in front of a fridge or oven as these may prevent the fridge or oven doors from opening properly.

T. Barlow
Chester

When going to the toilet I find it much easier and more pleasant if I remove both my trousers and my underpants before sitting down.

Loveable Scatterbrain Goldfish

My 6 year old son is a loveable scatterbrain. The other day I sent him out to buy some coal and a goldfish. When he came back I was glad to see that he'd got what I asked for, but before I could stop him he'd put the coal in the fishtank and the goldfish on the fire. Luckily we both saw the funny side.

Mrs J.C. Harcourt
Leatherhead

My husband recently lost a leg in a motorcycle accident. My 4 year old son was a little shocked to see him at first but soon regained his composure. "Cheer up daddy", he said. "Your trousers won't cost so much now."

Mrs E. Roth

I have a lovely granddaughter who is 7 years old. However she has not yet said anything funny or repeated any of my phrases in front of people with embarrassing results. Let's hope that she does soon.

REPORT SHOCK

By the year 2000 over half the world's population will have emigrated to the moon. And three in every four households will own a space rocket.

These are the astonishing predictions made in a top secret report due to be published this month.

DOLPHINS

And new technology will lead to major changes taking place in the home. Soon robot pets will be common place. Small electric dogs with flashing light bulbs on top of their heads could eventually replace the traditional family pet.

DOGS

Shopping will be made easier too. Vast underwater supermarkets employing hundreds of highly intelligent dolphins will open on the sea bed. Computerised shopping trolleys will push themselves around the store 24 hours a day, doing your shopping, while you play snooker on Mars or stay at home and watch TV.

Cross the SNOOKER BALLS and win a Game of Snooker

All the balls have been obliterated from the snooker table pictured on the right. Using your skill and judgement together with information provided, make a cross on the table where you think the exact centre of each ball is.

Remember there are 22 balls in total, although some may have already been potted. Mark each cross with the following letters to indicate the colour of the ball: RE—red, YE—yellow, GR—green, BR—brown, BU—blue, PI—pink and BA—black. Mark the cue ball with the letters CU. If you think a ball has been potted, simply make one less cross on the table.

Whoever pinpoints the exact centre of every ball on the table will win our star prize:- a FREE game of snooker courtesy of the Central Snooker Club, Newcastle upon Tyne. And for the six closest runners up there's a fantastic piece of billiard chalk. Each entry is allowed only 22 crosses (one for each ball). Send your completed coupons to: Viz Comic Cross The Snooker Balls competition, Viz House, 16 Lily Crescent, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE2 2SP, to arrive by no later than 4th July 1986.

In the event of there being no outright winner, we'll just forget about the first prize.

Conditions: Dry and smokey.

Bum Entries

We've had a bulging mail-bag packed full of entries for our fabulous BOTTOM COMPETITION. But unfortunately, we can't show you any of them.

According to the rules of the competition all entries must be taken in a photo booth. So party polaroids and candid holiday snap bottom pictures do not qualify. Unfortunately this has meant that all the entries received to date are disqualified.

DONKEYS

So there's still a terrific chance for all of you to win our first prize — a super packet of Sugar Puffs. And remember, we're giving away stylish pairs of rubber kitchen gloves to the runners up. All you have to do is send a photograph of your bottom, taken in a photo booth, with your name and address written on the back. Send it to Viz Comic Bottom Competition, Viz House, 16 Lily Crescent, Newcastle upon Tyne NE2 2SP, to arrive by no later than 4th July 1986. And if yours is one of the lucky bottoms drawn out of the hat by former footballer Trevor Brooking, one of our fantastic prizes will be yours! And win or lose, you'll be sure to see your bottom in our next issue.

Radio- activity terror mutant death fear

Fears for public safety are increasing following reports of high level radio activity in the UK.

Dangerous levels of "Radio One" have been reported in many parts of Britain. And Department Of Environment officials have confirmed a slight increase in the number of cases of "Gary Davies" being reported recently, although they emphasized that under normal circumstances these did not constitute an immediate health risk.

HORROR

Rumours that the village of Seavington St. Mary in Somerset had been evacuated following a chronic outbreak of "Simon Bates Golden Hour" have been strenuously denied by the Home Office. However one local described how Ministry Of Agriculture officials had destroyed cattle and sheep after a radio had been left playing in a nearby field.

DEATH

A hospital spokesman in nearby Ilminster later confirmed that a woman in her twenties was being treated for a mild case of "Our Tune". Although her condition was described as "comfortable", cases of "Our Tune" have in the past resulted in serious brain damage and occasionally in premature death.

This advert isn't funny, but it's sideways.

OH WHAT A WONDERFUL WOMAN

IN THIS, HER SIXTIETH YEAR, WE SALUTE A MAJESTIC, SUPERB LADY

You are fantastic
Your Majesty

At 60 she is the most popular monarch in British history. The longest reigning since Queen Victoria. The most loved, respected and admired lady in the world. She is of course our noble Queen.

Despite her sixty years she remains attractive. More so than many women half her age. Many of today's young girls must enter beauty competitions wishing that they had a fraction of the Queen's charm, style and good looks. In fact, to look at her you wouldn't think she was 60. She looks more like 25.

Remarkable

Her reign has been long and victorious. Even before she came to the throne the nation was indebted to this remarkable lady. For as a wartime services volunteer the young Princess Elizabeth almost single-handedly saved London from the German blitz.

Glorious

There can be little doubt that this truly wonderful lady has the most difficult job in the world. Harder than being an astronaut or deep sea diver. Yet over her glorious 34 year reign she has performed her duties to perfection, far better than anyone else could have done. Shaking hands, visiting foreign countries, talking to lots and lots of people. Often being in two places at once, but always finding time to stop and talk to old ladies.

Cameras cannot do her justice

Despite competition from Princess Diana the Queen remains Britain's best dressed woman. Whether in a flowery hat or yellow coat, a sparkling evening gown or yellow coat, she always steals the show. Top photographers all agree that their cameras simply cannot do justice to this fantastic woman.

Charming

But as well as her charm the Queen has nerves of steel, as she showed during a recent visit to a foreign country. Suddenly, her hat blew off. A whole nation held its breath. Millions of TV viewers around the world looked on in silence. Calmly, she caught it, and put it back on her head.

Indestructable

The security hazards of public life have increased many fold in recent years, but the Queen never gives a thought to her personal safety. Indeed, she isn't scared of anything. We will never forget, in 1982, she was confronted by an intruder in her bedroom. A foreign King or Queen would probably have panicked. But not our Queen. "Get out of here at once!" she calmly told the man who was later arrested. He was one visitor who definitely wouldn't be going back to Buckingham Palace in a hurry!

The Queen as we see her every day on money and (inset) wearing a hat.

But as well as fulfilling her public duties, changing the guards at Buckingham Palace, opening endless buildings and appearing on stamps, money and postal orders, there is a private side to the Queen. The caring mother who, in difficult times, has struggled to bring up a Royal family. With several large homes to run, and four hungry mouths to feed. Now that job is done, and her children have grown up. All of them healthy, attractive, warm and friendly people. Four majestic, glowing tributes to their outstanding glorious mother.

Brilliant

And like those children we all love the Queen. She is absolutely brilliant, and in this her sixtieth year, we raise our hats and our glasses in wishing her a further one hundred and sixty marvellous years ruling over us.

GU-HONK!

THE END.

In this uncertain world in which we live, the possibility of a nuclear confrontation is always with us. But if the holocaust did materialise, how would it affect your golf?

Well fear not; the end of civilization as we know it need not necessarily mean premature retirement to the clubhouse for the keen golfer. A post armageddon golfer can still improve his game..... even in the depths of a nuclear winter!

Here are the answers to the questions you will be asking:

"What do I do when a nuclear warning is given?"

If a major warning is given, you can bet your life that the sound of moaning from thousands of week-end golfers will rival the big bang itself! Just when you're looking forward to a brisk jaunt around the fairways you have to return to the wife and kids! But it really is safer to return indoors.

"Can I practise in my fallout shelter?"

Obviously conditions in your family refuge room will be pretty cramped, so driving and pitching will, I'm afraid, be rather impractical. But there's no reason why you can't fix up a small practise putting area to while away the time.

"When is it safe to leave the fallout shelter?"

It should be safe enough to leave your refuge room after a few days, and keen enthusiasts should have little difficulty in "getting out of the bunker"(!) Naturally your wife, if she's still alive, may object to your desire for a round of golf at this time, but remember, for your game to improve a constant routine of continuous practise is vital. (Also, remember to dump any dead relatives outside the shelter on your way out).

"Will radioactivity affect my game?"

If you find that it is taking you one or two shots more to reach the green than is usual, your game may have become 'radioactive'. Here are some tell-tale signs of a 'radioactive' game:

LOSS OF FINGERS

After a nuclear explosion you may find that some of your fingers have dropped off. This will almost certainly affect your grip.

Improve your GOLF AFTER THE BOMB

Watch out for possible growth of a second head after nuclear attack.

Lining up a putt in your fallout shelter.

Loss of fingers will almost certainly affect your grip.

LOSS OF VISION

If you cannot see anything at all then you may have been blinded by the nuclear blast. This will almost definitely hinder your ability to judge distances accurately.

GROWTH OF A SECOND HEAD

There is nothing more annoying for the amateur golfer than someone looking over his shoulder when he attempts to play a difficult tee shot. Unfortunately, it happens all too often. However, if you fail to recognize this face as a friend or partner while on your first post nuclear outing round the fairways, then you may have grown a second head. This is a particularly annoying side effect of radiation sickness and is unlikely to help improve your performance. In this case two heads are certainly not better than one!

As well as those problems already mentioned, there may be other hazards which the post nuclear attack golfer will have to deal with. He may be already on the course when the bomb drops. How can he tell that he has heard a nuclear explosion and not, for instance, a car backfiring? Well, here are some clues:

A car backfiring may sound like a nuclear explosion, but an actual nuclear blast produces a blinding flash lasting some seconds, accompanied by searing heat and followed some seconds later by a hurricane-like blast. The effects of a car backfiring are not quite so severe.

"In the event of a nuclear attack should I return to the clubhouse or should I carry on with my game?"

If the nuclear weapon has landed directly on the golf course, there is little point in carrying on with your game. It is most likely that your clubs will have melted, and you yourself will have become a charred lump of tissue indistinguishable from a flagpole. If you do survive, you should return to the clubhouse which, incidentally, may have taken up a new position some miles from the golf course due to the aforementioned hurricane-like blast.

HE WAS KING OF THE POOL TABLE — BUT NOW HE FACED HIS TOUGHEST COMPETITION OF ALL IN A CUE FOR LOVE

Since losing his job at the local factory young Mick Sidebottom had spent two unhappy years on the dole. Lonely and disillusioned with life he whiled away the hours in billiard halls and at his local pub where he had become undisputed champion of the pool table.

But the long and uneventful evenings spent playing pool had recently been brightened up by the arrival of an attractive new barmaid, Lucy Jones.

I CAN'T KEEP MY EYES OFF THAT ATTRACTIVE NEW BARMAID. SHE'S BEGINNING TO AFFECT MY CONCENTRATION.

DAMN! I'VE MIS-CUED!

WOULD YOU MIND TRYING TO KEEP THE BALLS ON THE TABLE, PAL?

SORRY MATE. I WAS DISTRACTED

Later

MAYBE IF I BUY ANOTHER
DRINK THAT BARMAID WILL SERVE ME THIS TIME

But

YES SIR, CAN I BE OF ASSISTANCE?

OH... ERM... J-J-JUST ANOTHER
GLASS OF LEMONADE
PLEASE.

FOILED AGAIN! SOMEHOW I'VE GOT TO MEET HER. HMMM...

By closing time Mick had come up with a plan.

SHE SHOULD BE LEAVING
ANY MINUTE NOW. I JUST HOPE THIS WORKS.

AH! HERE SHE COMES.

As Lucy approached Mick collapsed dramatically.

AGHH! MY ANKLE!

WHAT'S THE MATTER?
CAN I HELP?

IT'S WORKING PERFECTLY

But

EXCUSE ME, DARLING. CAN I OFFER YOU A LIFT?

THAT'S VERY KIND OF YOU

OH NO! WHERE DID HE COME FROM?

Lucy was driven away in the stranger's car.

MAYBE YOU SHOULDN'T DRINK SO MUCH IN FUTURE, CHUM. HO HO HO!

The next day Mick arrived at the pub dressed more smartly than usual. But he was greeted with an unwelcome sight

OH NO! NOT HIM AGAIN. AND HE'S PLAYING POOL TOO! I'LL TEACH HIM A LESSON!

I'LL GIVE YOU A GAME, BUSTER!

OKAY. WHY NOT?

But as Mick prepared to break-off

OH NO! LUCY IS WATCHING. MY HANDS ARE BEGINNING TO SHAKE ALREADY.

UNGHHH! I'VE MISSED THE WHITE BALL COMPLETELY!

But Mick's opponent was showing no sign of nerves

OH NO! HE'S PLAYED BEFORE

CRACK!!!

Ball after ball went crashing into the pockets.

It wasn't long until the game was over.

AND LAST BUT NOT LEAST,
THE BLACK!

For Mick the bitter pain of defeat was hard to hide.

GOOD GAME, GOOD GAME,
BUT I THINK YOU NEED A
LITTLE BIT MORE PRACTISE, CHUM.

THE ROTTEN GIT. I'LL GET HIM BACK FOR THIS

As the evening wore on the situation got worse.

THAT CREEP'S BEEN BUYING
HER DRINKS ALL NIGHT. I'VE GOT TO DO SOMETHING.

MAYBE IF I BOUGHT HER
ONE....

EXCUSE ME... ERM... MISS,
COULD I HAVE A GLASS OF
L-LEMONADE... AND... ER...
HOW AB-B-BOUT A LITTLE SOMETHING FOR YOURSELF?

COME OFF IT, BALDY. YOU
COULDN'T AFFORD IT. HERE—
THE LEMONADE'S ON ME.
NOW PUSH OFF!

OH... ERM... THANK YOU VERY MUCH.

But Mick hadn't given up completely.

I'LL SEE YOU AT CLOSING TIME THEN!

YES ROY! SEE YOU THEN

LET'S FACE IT. I DON'T STAND A CHANCE
AGAINST HIM. HE'S TALL, DARK AND HANDSOME, AND HE IS LOADED WITH CASH.
I SUPPOSE I'M JUST A LOSER.

OH NO! HE MUST BE TAKING HER OUT
AFTERWARDS. MAYBE IF I CAN GET TO HER FIRST THERE'S A CHANCE I COULD CHANGE HER MIND

Mick hid upstairs in the ladies toilet and after closing time he emerged to confront Lucy and reveal his love for her.

He could bear it no more. Mick's anger and frustration suddenly boiled over, and in a fit of rage he kicked down the door.

I'LL KILL THEM BOTH!!

But as he approached the door

OOH! IS THAT ONE OF YOUR BALLS?

MMM! IT'S REALLY HARD.

SEE IF YOU CAN GET IT INTO THE HOLE.

HOW COULD THEY?! HERE — IN THE PUB!

MICK! WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE!

I WAS GOING TO ASK YOU THE SAME QUESTION

I THINK I CAN EXPLAIN.

I ASKED ROY TO GIVE ME SOME POOL LESSONS AFTER CLOSING TIME BECAUSE I WANTED TO BE ABLE TO IMPRESS YOU, MICK.

LUCY AND I ARE JUST GOOD FRIENDS

IMPRESS ME?

THAT'S RIGHT. LUCY THOUGHT THAT PLAYING YOU AT POOL WOULD BE THE BEST WAY OF GETTING TO KNOW YOU

OF COURSE I WAS SEXUALLY ATTRACTED TO HER AT FIRST BUT I SOON REALISED THAT SHE ONLY HAD EYES FOR YOU YOU'RE A VERY LUCKY MAN

YES. AND FROM NOW ON I'LL TAKE ALL MY LESSONS FROM YOU, MICK.

THAT SOUNDS LIKE MY CUE FOR ACTION!
